FINANCIAL.

The only feature in the money market was the extreme searcity of exchange, which was in active demand, but could only be supplied in limited amounta, Hardly one of our banks had more than they needed, and none of them were able to spare any to their neighbors. The demand is not confined to any branch of trade. All of our merchants are resulting as rapidly as they can collect, and in many instances they have to overcheek in order to forward the desared amount. The demand caused some anxiety on the part of banks to buy, and in a few instances they would have paid by premium rather than teles. There is no change in the checking rate.

TRADE. The weather is all that could be desired for picking cutton, and it is needless to say that the planter is making the best use of it. Upon many places along the Arkansas and lower river from thirty to fifty bales have already been gathered, and the first wet spell will no doubt cause very large additions to our receipts, as then the gins will be run to their utmost spacity. The staple that now arrives is enerally free of stain, and looks bright nd clean, but not so much so as last season. The demand for bagging and ties is quite series, and the bulk of skipments from the city seems to be made up of these articles. Stocks are full and prices firm. Schofield's Patent Cotton Press

This press must commend itself to the cotion planters of the Southern States or durability, simplicity of construction, and ease with which it can be operated by ith hand, horse, soiler or seems power, the change from one to the other being effected in a fer manuse. A great advantage this Press possesses is that occupies for hand power only space of fourteen feet square, and may be placed und operated in a gin-house, thus aveoidly space of fourteen feet square, and may be placed und operated in a gin-house, thus aveoidly the necessity of taking cotion out of the house to be packed. It can be used in any kind of weather; the Press being in the house, rainy days are no obstitute to packing, as is the case with wooden screws. Another advantage is, when you get Schoffeld's Press, you have a Press for all time, and one not liable to decay or break, as is the case with the old wooden screws and most other irou screws and presses. This is evident from the fact that the screw is from and most other irou screws and presses. This is evident from the fact that the screw is from the decay for chess the ground. The frames may be made of wood, at the option of the planter. Planters may purchase either the screw and nut adlone and put the wooden box to it themselves, or may purchase the Fress complete, with screw, nut, irou frames and box, making the most complete Press in use. Presses complete, with screw, nut, irou frames and box, making the most complete Press in use. Presses complete, with screw, nut, irou frames and box, making the most complete Press in use. Horse Power Press!

This Press, of two-horse power, may be of either cast or wrought-iron screws; wrought-iron screws being cut with three-inch pitch for Horse Power. It may be put up either with without iron frames—an iron frame being preferable, as it cannot break, and will never sed repairs, as is the case with wood. In putting thom up complete at my establishment, sey do not differ from the Hand Power only in pitch of thread of screw, and different kind levers for working. One horse can pack five to eight hundred pounds on this Press.

J. S. SCHOFIELD, Proprietor.

That planters may get their Presses in time, will take in payment warehouse ac ceptance, due October 1, 1870, at cost prices, as above.

Schofield's Patent Cotton Press received the First Premium at the Georgia State Fair for 1869. It was proved superior to anything for plantation ection packin put up more substantia lly, is more simple and efficient than any cold is nothing complicated or to get, out of order about it, and after be will be as good as new. Ever presses will not do, they will get out months become a useless, which, and are displaced by a screw press.

This cotton press is fast displacing the old wood screw and other; presses sold last season, I have not heard a complaint from one; is daily in receipt of letters from the first planters of all the Cotton Stefficacy, and expressing their opinion that it is superior to all others.
